Paper on the Right Center of the Lutheran Liturgy. Preliminary Remarks. The following paper was prepared by order of the Honorable District Presidency for the meeting of the Synod of the Northern District held at Monroe, Michigan, from May 29 to June 4, 1861, but could not be included for discussion because of its length. Instead, it was requested that it be forwarded to "Doctrine and Order," but the speaker asked that it first be subjected to a thorough review on the part of the District Praeses for possible improvement.

For the treatment of this topic, the speaker is given the task to first present the principles and basic features of a Christian liturgy, then to show on the basis of these the aberrations of a false, hierarchical or enthusiastic spirit; finally, however, to demonstrate the realization of these principles on the basis of the model of a complete Lutheran liturgy. For the purpose of a discussion, the speaker takes the liberty of paraphrasing and proceeding in a more compendiaristic manner. (O. Fürbringer? Walther?)

Preface. With this eleventh volume, a change in the editorship has taken place, because the Synod, which met in Fort Wayne in October of this year, considered it an inequity to burden Professor Walther with the actual editorial work of this journal, since, in addition to his other professional work, he was unanimously elected to the new, responsible office of general president of the entire Synod, and his health was also weakened by a serious illness which he had barely overcome. Our "Lehre und Wehre" will therefore from now on be edited by the College of Teachers at St. Louis and Fort Wayne, and this in such a way that Professor Walther will supply, primarily in this year's issue, continuous articles on pastoral theology, in addition to the continuation of the Axioms and other occasional essays. Dr. Sihler and Pastor Fleischmann have taken over the collection of ecclesiastical and historical notes on "foreign countries," Professor Lange on the English denominations of the interior, and the undersigned on the German ecclesiastical conditions in America. The latter is also still entrusted with the final editing of the submissions, to whom, therefore, everything concerning "Lehre und Wehre" is to be sent, with the exclusion of orders, cancellations, changes of address, and payments, which are to be made to the agent of the Synod, Mr. Martin C. Barthel, are to be made. (E.A. Brauer.).	1

The False Supports of the Modern Theory of Open Questions. [After we have explained in our preface to the present volume of this journal in what sense it is unobjectionable to speak of open questions, and after we have, on the other hand, renounced the modern theory in regard to open questions, we consider it necessary to prove the groundlessness of that with which one now commonly seeks to justify and support this theory. This shall now be done in the following. (Walther!).]	100

What is the progress of modern Lutheran theology in doctrine? In accordance with our promise (see "Lehre und Wehre", p. 80), we will answer the above question in the following in such a way that we will place a thesis from one of our old Lutheran theologians at the head of all loci, and let the antitheses of the modern Lutheran theologians follow. We do not subject the latter to any criticism here, since this would require more space than can be granted to a specific subject in a theological and ecclesiastical monthly. The purpose of this article will also have been attained if the reader is convinced by it that modern Lutheran theology is not an advance or a further development of the old, but an entirely new and different one - the most decided apostasy from the latter.

Replica and Counter-Replica. (Since the present replica by Senior Pamperrien is not a doctrinal treatise, but of a purely historical character, as well as for other reasons, we have considered it appropriate under the circumstances to publish it here. But it seemed to us to be just as appropriate to the circumstances to give at the same time Mr. Missionary Näther the opportunity to say what he might have to say on the individual points in the same number of our journal. We therefore let Missionary Pamperrien have his say in the text, and Missionary Näther in the notes, and leave the judgment to the reader. The editors). (K. Pamperrien - Th. Näther.)	177
